Special Report submitted to the meeting at the Arab League
Cairo, 5 August 2015

Since 2004, Israeli settlers have carried out more than 11,000 attacks against Palestinians in the occupied West Bank. The settlers attack Palestinian civilians, homes, churches and mosques, uproot and burn down trees, and even poison water reservoirs. Each and every settler that has committed such dreadful crimes has enjoyed the protection of nominal or no prosecution despite blatant proof evidencing their commission of the crime.

This is not simply the case of isolated incidents of settler terrorism, it is done under the protection and support of the Israeli Occupation Forces and the Israeli government. Since January 2015, the Israeli military has perpetrated thousands of attacks against defenseless Palestinian civilians, including over 3,000 raids on Palestinian cities and villages, resulting in the murder of 27 and injuring more than 600 people. Among the killings were two Palestinian youths in a span of 24 hours, 17-year-old Laith Fadel Al Khaldi from Ramallah and 16-year-old Mohammad Hamed Masri from Gaza.

Armed Israeli settlers continue to systematically commit heinous crimes against Palestinians. This is evident in the recent burning to death of an 18-month-old Palestinian toddler Ali Dawabsheh while sleeping in his crib at his home in Duma, near Nablus.

On the morning of July 31st, 2015, a group of settler criminals attacked and burnt down two Palestinian homes in Duma village in Nablus district. The family of Ma'moon Dawabsheh was not inside at the time its home was attacked, but the home of Ali Sa'ad Dawabsheh was burnt while the family was asleep inside. As a result, baby Ali lost his life. Ali's mother and father, Riham and Sa'ad, and his four-year-old brother Ahmad suffered severe burns and remain in critical condition as a result of the same attack. The incident harkens back to July of last year when a 16-year-old Palestinian child from Jerusalem, Mohammed Abu Khdeir, was kidnapped and burned alive by Israeli settlers.

Only a few hours before the attack on Duma, the Israeli Channel 2 broadcast a report about a Jewish terrorist cell based in the occupied West Bank, which had attacked the Church of Loaves in Tiberias. The TV report revealed information about a compact disc found in the possession of the attackers. The CD provided instructions for an "easy way to burn Arabs alive"; "First, break the glass windows using stones. Then continuously start throwing Molotov cocktails. Then set tires on fire and place them on the exit points of the house, so no one escapes - so all are burnt alive". This report was broadcast at primetime on a major Israeli TV network.<sup>1</sup> This was a similar method used by the attackers when, hours later, they threw incendiary devices through the glass window of baby Ali's room and throughout the house.

According to a recent report by Israeli Human rights organization Yesh Din, 85.3 percent of investigative files are closed due the failure of Israeli police investigators to locate suspects or to find sufficient evidence to enable indictment. In addition, only 7.4 percent of investigations have yielded indictments against suspects. Only one-third (32.7 percent) of legal proceedings have ended in the full or partial conviction of the defendants. This means that the chance that a complaint submitted to the Israel Police by a Palestinian will lead to an effective investigation, the location of a suspect, prosecution, and ultimate conviction is just 1.9 percent.

Israeli authorities have established, and continue to consolidate, the illegal settlements and presence of settlers in the occupied West Bank. The Israeli government fuels the crimes of the settlers through hateful rhetoric and incitement against Palestinians. Israeli ministers have publicly called for the killing and dehumanization of the Palestinian people, and the Israeli legal and judicial system provides no legal recourse for victims of the horrific crime that results.

The State of Palestine holds the government of Israel fully responsible for the daily terror attacks it carries out against the land and people of Palestine. Israel grants impunity for the settlers, their leaders and their Knesset members and in the process many Palestinians continue to fall victims of cruel, inhuman and degrading acts carried out by settlers, often under the full protection of the Israeli military and security forces.

H.E President Mahmoud Abbas formally called upon the international community last year to assume its responsibility to protect the Palestinian people under occupation. While the world preferred to ignore the Palestinian call, hundreds of attacks took place, with thousands being killed, injured and arbitrarily imprisoned.

We once again call upon the international community to assume its responsibility to protect and to hold Israeli authorities responsible for their criminal acts. For peace to prevail, the culture of Israeli impunity must end.

The following report highlights the main Israeli terror attacks carried out by settlers during 2015.
